Mrs. McKoin Named Head Of Girls School

Grant Cites Good Record As Juvenile Worker

The appointment of Mrs. Florence McKoin, juvenile placement worker, at Louisiana Training Institute, to acting superintendent of the State Industrial School for Girls in Pineville, was announced today by Dr. Edward D. Grant, director of the Department of Institutions.

Mrs. McKoin replaces Colin Coaker, superintendent since 1953, who requested release from the superintendency and reassignment to the classification department of the penitentiary at Angola. The changes become effective August 1.

Coaker was a classification officer at the penitentiary in 1953 before taking over the superintendency of the Girls School. He graduated from Louisiana College and completed two years of graduate work in the field of sociology at Louisiana State University.

Joined Staff

Mrs. McKoin was assistant superintendent of the Girls School in Pineville from 1946 to 1949, and was named superintendent of the institution by Gov. Earl K. Long in 1949. She continued in that capacity until 1952, when she joined the staff of Louisiana Training Institute in Monroe. Her background includes study in the field of sociology and psychology at Louisiana State University and Louisiana Tech. Before her work at the Girls School, she was an elementary school principal in Oak Grove and later worked for the Department of Public Welfare.

"Mrs. McKoin's previous superintendency of the Girls School," Dr. Grant said, "and her extensive work with juveniles make her eminently qualified for this reassignment."

State Legion Convention Here July 25

More than 1,000 Louisiana Legionnaires are expected to converge on Monroe for their annual state convention July 25-28, according to Pete Dowd, convention publicity chairman. The gathering promises to be the biggest convention of the year in Monroe. "Monroe was host to better than 1,200 Legionnaires in 1952 when we were the host city," Dowd said. "We may even exceed that number this year," he said.

The convention will get underway Thursday, July 25 with the registration of the 40 and 8 at the Penn Hotel.

The Legion registration will open the following Friday morning at 9 a.m. at the Paramount Theatre. State Commander M. C. (Mike) Gehr will preside.

Featured speaker at the opening session will be Preston J. Moore, executive committee member from Oklahoma.

David Bell, Louisiana Department of Veterans Affairs, will report to the Legionnaires Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m.

W. C. (Dan) Daniel, National Commander of the Legion, will deliver the featured address of the convention.

Like To Vacation At Naval Base In Rhode Island

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to vacation this summer—if and when he can get away—at the U.S. Naval Base in Narragansett Bay near Newport, R.I.

Announcing this today, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty made it clear that whether the President and Mrs. Eisenhower get there depends mainly on when Congress adjourns. The principle uncertainty in that situation is how long Senate debate on civil rights, which started yesterday, will continue.

Shortly before today's announcement regarding the vacation site, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told Eisenhower the debate may continue four to eight weeks, possibly longer.

QUICK TURNABOUT

House Grants Year Soil Bank Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, which voted two months ago to kill the major part of the administration's farm soil bank, reversed itself today and voted to extend the program one more year.

Without a fight, House members accepted a Senate-House compromise authorizing 500 million dollars for payments to farmers next year for the acreage reserve section of the plan for taking a percentage of surplus croplands out of production.

Only Senate approval, which appears certain, remains to insure effectiveness of the program in 1958.

Key Feature

Today's House action came in approval of a compromise of Senate and House differences over a $3,600,000,000 bill appropriating funds for the Agriculture Department in fiscal 1958 which started July 1.

On May 15, the House voted to kill all 1958 financing authority for the acreage reserve, key feature of the soil bank. The Senate voted to authorize the half-billion. The House accepted the Senate.

Previously Eisenhower had expressed surprise that Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) and other Southern opponents had called the bill's terms "vicious." Russell asked for a conference with the President, which Hagerty said would be arranged later.

Knowland, who moved yesterday to get the bill before the Senate despite the prospect of lengthy talk by the Southerners, indicated he personally is willing to consider changes in the House language. Russell and others have said this language reaffirms authority to use troops to enforce civil rights.

"The bill may need some additional clarification," Knowland said. "I have not closed my mind against changes in it. If it goes beyond what was intended, then it will be up to the Senate to change it. But the Senate cannot consider such changes until it gets the bill actually before it."

Knowland said he hopes a vote can be reached this week on his move to call up the bill by "lengthening" the sessions. But he said he and other supporters will not decide until Thursday whether to try to hold the Senate in session continuously on Friday and Saturday in an effort to get to a vote.

Serious Problem

"We will review the situation Thursday," he said. "I hope that the sessions will lengthen out but I hope it will not be necessary to go around the clock."

"It will present a serious problem, however, if the vote on the motion is delayed beyond this week. It seems to me a week's time is a reasonable period in which to get a bill before the Senate for a discussion of its merits."

Knowland earlier said he had told Eisenhower that the debate on the bill may last four to eight weeks or possibly longer. He said Eisenhower is "fully informed regarding the implications" such lengthy debate might have on other administration bills.

Indicted Spy Claims Asylum In France

Gov't Official Denies Issue Has Been Raised

PARIS (AP)—Russian-born George Zlatovski, indicted in New York on a charge of spying for the Soviet Union, declared today France has granted political asylum to him and his wife Jane. A government spokesman denied it.

The spokesman, a Foreign Ministry official, said the question of political asylum would come up only if and when the United States formally asks extradition of the couple.

Like Grand Jury

The United States has not yet presented such a request, though official moves are under way. The case was being discussed in both the U.S. Embassy and the French Foreign Ministry. The question is complicated because extradition also would involve the French Justice and Interior ministries.

As the spokesman outlined procedure: As soon as a request is in hand, the case will be handed to a "chambre mise en accusation," the rough equivalent of a grand jury. The United States must present all the facts, as in any other request for extradition. The court will have three weeks to decide the case.

Zlatovski, 47, a Russian-born naturalized American who formerly was a lieutenant in U. S. Army intelligence, declared in an interview at his left bank apartment: "The French have given us asylum. We are their guests. We can say nothing which would embarrass our hosts."

He and his 45-year-old wife, indicted by a federal grand jury in New York yesterday, are living in a third-floor apartment over a shop selling abstract paintings.

Neighbors said they have lived very quietly, almost never entertained and did not frequent cafes in the street.

The U. S. government linked the couple to an international spy ring headed by Jack Soble. Soble is currently awaiting sentence in New York as a confessed leader in the spy plot.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said in New York the French government had been asked to return the Zlatovskis to America "even though the offense may not be deemed extraditable."

Would Say Little

Neither the U. S. Embassy nor the French Foreign Ministry would say whether a request for extradition actually had been filed.

Mrs. Zlatovski is a native of San Francisco and was a wartime employee of the Office of Strategic Services.

Appearing nervous and upset, Zlatovski would say little beyond his claim that the French had given him and his wife asylum.

"You people have already made up everything you want to, so why should I say anything more?" he told reporters. "I am sorry to be rude, but I wish you would leave me alone."

With that he shut the door. The apartment door had been opened by a dark, uniformed man wearing heavy hornrimmed glasses, a pale gray suit and speaking English with a heavy guttural accent.

Looking dark and youthful with his brown hair in a crew cut, Zlatovski appeared in the doorway in a thin, natural-colored silk robe open to the waist and a pair of straw slippers. Behind him the plain white walls of the living room blazed with brilliantly colored abstract paintings. Blue denim draperies hung at the two windows open on the narrow Latin Quarter streets, and a black French poodle barked loudly in the living room.

Mrs. Zlatovski was not visible.

Report Red Plot To Blow Up Iran Refinery Nipped

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The head of Iran's Security Department said today Iranian authorities had nipped a Communist plot to blow up the huge Abadan oil refineries.

Gen. Teimour Bakhtiari, who is also deputy premier, told a news conference Iran had arrested a number of Communists "who were almost ready" to put into operation the plan to sabotage the refineries.

The refineries at Abadan are operated under a joint agreement between Iran and a group of eight oil companies owned by British, American, Dutch and French interests. They are the former properties of the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

Deputy Slayer To Die Aug. 16

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Gov. Earl Long today signed a death warrant for the Aug. 16 execution of Joseph Sheffield, convicted twice in the 1953 slaying of the brother of the Franklin Parish sheriff.

The condemned prisoner will be the first white man to die in the state's electric chair at the state penitentiary.

Since the 1956 Legislature acted, all executions are carried out at Angola, the state prison. Four Negroes have paid with their lives for capital crimes within recent months and on July 3 Long signed a death warrant for the July 26 execution of a fifth, Thomas (Blackjack) Goins, sentenced in the fatal shooting of Anthony Meyers during a New Orleans holdup.

Lawyer Failed

Before the 1956 Legislature, sheriffs were responsible for executions in their own parishes. Sheffield's second conviction, March 23, 1956, in the slaying of deputy sheriff John L. Waller in Franklin Parish, was upheld by the state Supreme Court Jan. 21. His attorneys failed in efforts to get a U. S. Supreme Court hearing.

Sheffield was indicted June 17, 1953. His offer to plead guilty was refused by the trial court.

After he first was sentenced on July 3, 1953, the federal court in Monroe, ordered the state District Court to grant Sheffield a new trial or turn him loose.

The second trial began March 19, 1956. One of the bills filed with the state Supreme Court by Sheffield's attorneys referred to the trial court's overruling of a motion by the accused for a change of site for the second trial.

Counsel argued the public in the area was prejudiced against the prisoner as a result of "publication of articles and news items by the press concerning the trial and charge."

But the Supreme Court ruled it found no evidence to support the argument, and termed newspaper coverage "not appreciably different from that ordinarily given by newspapers to comparable crimes."

Sheffield has remained in the Franklin parish jail since he was arrested for the Waller slaying. On several occasions recently he has expressed confidence that he would never be executed.

He reasoned with a newspaperman not long ago that "God has spared me this long — why should I believe now that I am going to die?"

The slain man was a brother to Sheriff Hiram Waller, veteran and popular Franklin parish sheriff. John Waller, at the time he was fatally shot, was serving on his brother's staff as a deputy.

Swimming Pool Weather Today

Today will be another of those "cool off by the pool" days. After a high temperature reading of 95 on Monday, Twin City residents are faced with the prospect of another "hot" day.

Sunrise showed a red sun, weather symbol for coming rain, but none is forecast for the area today. Skies will be clear to partly cloudy.

The high reading this morning was 85, low earlier was 76, and there is a good chance that yesterday's top mercury point of 95 will be equalled or topped before the afternoon is over.

FEUD REKINDLED

U. S. Bills City For Surplus Pipe

An on-and-off feud between the City of Monroe and the federal government over payment for some water pipe at Selman Field has been rekindled, City Attorney Haynes Harvey revealed today.

Harvey said the government is now demanding payment of the balance of a bill incurred by the City of Monroe for the purchase of water pipe after World War II.

A shortage of water pipe had developed following the war, Harvey said, and when Selman Field equipment was declared surplus by the government, the City arranged to buy it.

Terms of the agreement stated that a 40 per cent discount would be allowed on the approximately $10,000 cost of the pipe if the pipe were used immediately for the "health and welfare of the people."

The city purchased the pipe at the reduced price of $6,045.00, depositing $2,030.53 as a guarantee of performance of the contract, signed in 1949.

Shortly after the negotiations were completed, Selman Field was turned over to the city. The water pipe was left in the ground, and the balance remained unpaid.

The city attorney at that time, Henry Bernstein, took steps to recover the $2,000 deposit for the city, maintaining that since the city now owned the property, the money should be returned.

Bernstein's action against the government was dropped in 1951 when it was believed that the field would be reactivated.

The government is now demanding full payment of the bill for the pipe, Harvey said. "I am inclined to agree with Bernstein's stand that the city has a right to the pipe," the city attorney said. "The citizens and the school there need the use of the water pipe."

Harvey said he will defend the city's legal right to the pipe without payment of the approximate $4,000 balance.

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A Public Affairs Research Council executive said today while tax raises are one of three ways to find new revenue, the Legislature probably will choose new taxes as "the simplest and easiest" step.

Edward Steimel PAR executive director, told the Governmental Affairs Committee of the Baton Rouge Chamber of Commerce the state has a "rather poor budgetary process."

The state should have a system by which an administration budget is prepared instead of merely incorporating the submitted spending figures of state department heads.

The three alternatives in the search for new revenue, he said, are (1) a closer look into present spending, (2) increased taxes on the local level with a resulting decrease at the state level (3) higher state taxes.

6th Juror Picked In Clinton Trial

Lawyers Sift Prospects From Panel Of 66

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Patient questioning produced the fifth and sixth jurors this morning for the trial of John Kasper and 15 other segregationists for interfering with integration at Clinton High School.

Herbert F. Hartman, 70-year-old retired lumberman, was seated after voicing his belief that Negroes should have equal schools and teachers, but prefer themselves to study apart from whites.

The sixth juror is Osco Beeler, a farmer from Washburn in Grainger County. He said he had no preconceived notions about what happened at Clinton when the high school was integrated, or about Kasper.

Hartman also disclosed that he is a lodge brother of the prosecutor, John C. Crawford Jr. An earlier prospect was excused after she identified herself as an old college classmate of Crawford.

Equal Consideration
Asked by council for 15 of the defendants if he had any fixed opinions on the race mixing controversy, Hartman said, "almost any man would be interested to have this thing come up in the South after 150 years."

He assured Kasper's own lawyer he would weigh the evidence against Kasper equally with that against the others.

House Group OKs Gas Bill In Close Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Commerce Committee today approved the controversial natural gas bill by a tight 15-13 vote.

The bill by Committee Chairman Harris (D-Ark.) is designed to free natural gas producers from utility type regulation by the federal government. It now is slated to go to the House Rules Committee, where further opposition is expected.

The Rules Committee decides whether major legislation should be given the right of way for House action.

Rejected 19-11
Rep. O'Hara (R-Minn.) is author of a companion bill.

A committee member said two proponents of the legislation voted only "present" at today's meeting.

The committee previously had turned down a substitute proposal to free all independent producers from government controls.

The bill would prohibit the Federal Power Commission from considering production costs in setting rates.

Two Suits Ask $3,000,200 For Cohen Interview

LOS ANGELES, July 9 (AP)—The televised comments of former gambler Mickey Cohen last May 19 brought on two damage suits yesterday totaling $3,000,200.

Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker and Capt. James Hamilton of the Police Intelligence Squad sued TV interviewer Mike Wallace, American Broadcasting Co., the sponsors and advertising agency handling Wallace's program and 10 John Does, alleging libel, slander and defamation of character.

On the telecast Cohen denounced Parker and Hamilton. In New York, where the Wallace program originates, the district attorney said that oral defamatory remarks ordinarily classified as "slander" do not fall within the purview of the criminal libel law.

ABC tendered an apology in a later Wallace program, but attorneys for Parker and Hamilton said this was wholly inadequate to remedy the damage done.

They asked for $500,000 general damages and $500,000 exemplary damages each for Hamilton and Parker for the New York telecast, plus the same sum for Parker for the kinescope film of the interview shown in Los Angeles.

The law provides that for any sum recovered in libel the plaintiff is entitled also to costs plus $100 attorney's fees.

Actress Sued For $75,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Gail Russell, 32, has been arraigned on a felony drunk driving charge and sued for $75,000 damages as a result of driving her new car through a cafe window July 4.

The suit was filed yesterday by a janitor, Robert Reynolds, 21, who alleged he was seriously injured when pinned under her car while cleaning up the closed cafe. Miss Russell's preliminary hearing was set for July 19 on the drunk driving charge. She was released on $1,000 bail. She told newsmen she was "very sorry it happened."

FIVE HOURS TO GO

'Mad Dog Slayer' Irvin Gets Last-Ditch Reprieve

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., July 9 (UP)—"Mad Dog Slayer" Leslie Irvin, accused of the Chinese-style execution of six persons, won a reprieve from death last night five hours before he was to walk to the electric chair.

Judge Walter Lindley of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting in an extraordinary session at his home in Danville, Ill., granted the 33-year-old former pipefitter a stay of execution.

Irvin To Appeal

Lindley said the stay would remain in effect pending a hearing on Irvin's appeal to the U. S. Court of Appeals, probably in September.

The judge's action climaxed a day of furious activity by Irvin's attorneys to win a postponement of his execution, which had been set for 1:01 a.m. CDT Tuesday at Indiana State Penitentiary here.

It came after Irvin, calm and confident that he would win a new lease on life, dined on a sirloin steak "last meal" in his death row cell and ordered "six good cigars" to while away the anxious hours.

Attorneys Race

Irvin's attorneys, James D. Naie and Theodore Lockyear, started a grim race against the clock today after a federal judge in South Bend, Ind., refused to grant a stay.

They sped to Chicago to file the appeal with the Appeals Court and then on to Danville to appeal personally to Lindley for a postponement.

Irvin was convicted and condemned to die for the killing of W. Wesley Kerr, an Evansville station attendant. He was also accused of killing two women in southern Indiana and three members of a Henderson, Ky., family.

All six were forced to their knees with hands lashed behind them and shot in the back of the

New Speedy Jet Bomber Sighted Over Moscow

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today a new speedy medium jet bomber with sharply swept-back wings has been spotted over Moscow recently.

Hanson W. Baldwin, Times military editor, said the bomber and several other new Russian planes were seen during rehearsals for Soviet Air Force Day. The aerial display was scheduled for late June but was canceled at the last minute, ostensibly because bad weather was predicted.

Sources in Washington, Baldwin said, described the mystery bomber as a much improved badger class plane roughly comparable to the U. S. Boeing B47. The report gave this description: The bomber is of radical design. It is roughly 106 feet long, about the length of the TU16, which the Soviets have used in their long-range forces for years, but the wing span is believed to be about 25 feet shorter than the Badger's 100 feet.

The bomber appeared to have four jet engines, mounted in pairs in an over-and-under configuration in the wing roots on each side of the fuselage.

WEATHER FORECAST—Scattered showers and thundershowers are expected tonight over the Dakotas and from Tennessee eastward to the coast of Virginia and southern New Jersey as well as parts of Maine, the southern Plains and southern Rockies. It will be warmer over Minnesota and most of the eastern Plains and cooler for the east coast states north of Maryland. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Lewis Warns Against Gov't Control Of Welfare Funds

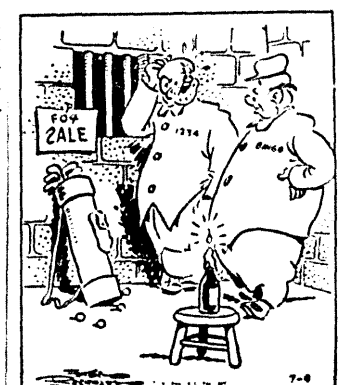

WASHINGTON (UP)—United Mineworkers President John L. Lewis, split with other labor leaders who are posing any federal controls, Lewis warned Congress today that federal regulation of workers' welfare funds may be a step toward creating "a police state in truth and in fact."

Lewis conceded that "dishonest men have committed dishonest deeds as affecting certain of the welfare funds." But he said it would be wrong to clamp controls on the funds "more or less in reprisal."

He said it is important that labor unions themselves see that upright officials are elected to take care of welfare funds. He said the union members must "reject the theory that voluntary associations should become the province of the state because the members of the voluntary associations seem at times incapable of any form of self-government."

Human Volunteers Test Experimental Vaccines

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Human volunteers are helping to test experimental vaccines designed to combat Asiatic flu—and another week or so may reveal whether one can be standardized for practical use.

A spokesman for the U.S. Public Health Service said today that five manufacturers have submitted samples of proposed vaccines to the service's Communicable Disease Center at Montgomery, Ala. "Potency" tests are under way there.

The spokesman cautioned, however, that even if one or more of the vaccines passes the tests, it will not be possible to produce them in unlimited quantities by fall—when influenza usually is most prevalent.

He said a few "relatively localized outbreaks" of the disease—which has reached epidemic form in Asian nations—already have occurred in the United States. Other outbreaks of influenza-like diseases are suspected of being the Asiatic type, though not yet confirmed as such.

The malady is a relatively mild one in that it seldom produces complications, but patients have high fevers and "ache all over." No deaths stemming from it have been reported in this country.

The spokesman said vaccine samples from one manufacturer, whom he declined to identify, have been under test at Montgomery for "two or three weeks," but that samples from the other four were received only last week. He said it takes a month or more to complete the tests.

In the tests, the spokesman said human volunteers are injected with the vaccine, and tested at weekly intervals to determine how

TIRED OF LIVING ALONE

No Honeymoon For Them; They'll Just Shell Beans

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—A bride 65 years old and her 21-year-old husband figured today they wouldn't go on a honeymoon. The bride said they'd just keep on shelling beans.

Thomas Henderson, 21, took a wife triple his age Monday after they earned money to buy the marriage license by shelling beans at the city market.

"We're going to find a place of our own pretty soon," said Mrs. Henderson, who has been married twice before. "I guess we'll just go on shelling beans for a living."

Henderson said it was "just love at first sight" when he spotted his future wife, then Mrs. Florence Norris, several weeks ago.

He said his father and his brother told him that "an older woman would be better to me than a young one."

The father, J. R. Henderson, said the marriage was "a pretty quick thing" but added, "Thomas is now over 21."

Mrs. Henderson said she had wished Henderson would quit starting at her when she first saw him.

"Now I wouldn't take anything for him," she said. "I sure was tired of living alone."

Timber Loss Heavy From Hurricane

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Hurricane Audrey damaged more than 50 million feet of pine and hardwood timber in southwest and central Louisiana, the State Forestry Commission said today.

The main damage was concentrated in Evangeline, Jefferson Davis, Allen and La Salle parishes, with sizable losses reported in Winn, Grant, Rapides, Calcasieu, St. Landry, Avoyelles and Beauregard parishes.

Besides the timber loss, thousands of acres of young pine plantations lie bent over like so many palms in the breeze.

The 50 million feet represents a month's normal production in this state, said W. M. Palmer, assistant state forester.

He urged landowners to salvage the fallen and broken timber as soon as possible because of the insect threat.

"The longer the timber lies on the ground," Palmer said, "the greater the threat of IPS and southern pine beetle infestation. Such an epidemic could cause much more damage than the hurricane itself."

J. H. Kitchens Jr., commission executive secretary, said many landowners would find it difficult to sell their salvaged timber at this time because of overloaded wood yards and may have to resort to pond storage if they have any ponds.

At Urania, the world famous 175-foot loblolly pine tree was toppled by the storm winds.

Palmer said the Urania Lumber Co. lost more than five million feet of timber, the Industrial Lumber Co. in Allen Parish lost 25,000 cords of pulpwood-size plantations, while the Crowell Longleaf Lumber Co. in Rapides and Evangeline parishes lost more than 10 million feet of pine, much of it virgin longleaf.

Jordan Accused Of Gunning Israel Plane

JERUSALEM (AP)—An Israeli army spokesman today accused Jordanians of machine-gunning an Israeli plane spraying crops south of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said one wing of the plane was hit but the pilot was not hurt and landed safely. He added that the plane was over Israeli territory when it was fired on yesterday near Geshur settlement.

Ex-Convict Held For Robbing 2 Cab Drivers

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Ex-convict James Tauzin remained in jail today after two detectives said he admitted robbing two cab drivers.

Tauzin, 36, is accused of using his 14-year-old daughter in the hold-ups.

Officers George Vogt and William G. Clark said yesterday after returning Tauzin here from Laurel, Miss., that he admitted the holdups. They charged Tauzin with armed robbery.

The girl, picked up in Laurel with her father, was placed in a convent. She said she had rather stay in a convent than be away from her father.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Anthony Macaluso of Chicago, who divorced Tauzin and was remarried, conferred with juvenile authorities about the girl's future.

Two cab drivers last Monday told police of being robbed at gunpoint by a man with a girl fitting the description of Tauzin and his daughter.

Stolen Safe Is Taken From Lake

The 450-pound safe taken from the Green Mill restaurant in a July 4 burglary was recovered by Monroe police Sunday morning from the waters of Wham Brake, where it had been pushed from a bridge on the old Bastrop road.

In custody are Max Hailey, 17, Albert Mike Hailey, 21, brothers from Houston, Tex., and Jackie G. Traylor, 21, of Bastrop. The Haileys signed statements admitting the burglary and implicated the Bastrop man.

The trio had spent approximately $100 of the money taken from the safe. They had carried the safe in their car and later pried it open and dumped it in the waist

Reserve Officers Favor Pay For USAR Students

A resolution by the Reserve Officers Association of the United States, Carney Chapter, Monroe, was prepared at its July meeting expressing the opposition of this body to the proposed discontinuance of pay for USAR School students, and forwarded to Representative Otto E. Passman and other elected officials.

Students will not be paid for attendance at sessions of the USAR School for the fiscal year 1958. The Monroe office had previously been notified of the pay status of USAR school students by the Chief, U. S. Army Military District, New Orleans.

Officers for the coming year elected by acclamation at the meeting were: Major Charles M. Womack, president; Captain William F. Pipes, Jr., vice-president; Major W. T. Gattis, vice-president; Lt. Col. Commander Robert Lee Boswell, vice-president; and Lt. Joe H. Downing, secretary-treasurer.

RECORD INCREASE

Idleness Breeds Delinquents, Chief Juvenile Officer Says

Major John B. Whitfield, head of the juvenile division, Monroe police department, this morning said the extremely large number of juveniles handled by his department this month is a "vast increase over previous months."

Whitfield yesterday released a report showing 87 investigations, involving 116 juveniles, had solved cases in the city of Monroe.

June's activities was the largest number of juveniles handled in the history of the division.

Of the 87 cases, 24 involved felony crimes with a total of 40 juveniles implicated. Misdemeanor cases numbered 21 with 51 juveniles implicated.

Twelve cases which involved no offenses, but did implicate delinquent children totaled 12, with 16 children.

In addition Major Whitfield said his division handled a total of nine cases with non-delinquent children. These he described as those whose parents or other adults had mistreated them. They in no way point to the child, but must be handled by the juvenile division, Whitfield said, since the child is implicated.

These totals, the juvenile division senior officer pointed out, include only the number of cases cleared up, and omit those cases presently pending. There is "a number of these," Whitfield said.

When queried about the cause in the rise of juveniles involved in these instances, Major Whitfield said the idleness of the pre-delinquent child is the main reason. This is brought about by the closing of school for the summer and the lack of different types of recreation for children. Major Whitfield stressed that the recreation program, as now set up, is doing "a vast amount of good" but many of the pre-delinquent children do not go on the baseball diamond or near the play grounds.

"Only about one per cent of the pre-delinquent children take part in these sports," Whitfield said.

(A pre-delinquent child, he stated, is one who has tendencies to commit a delinquent act, but is often kept busy enough to not think about these acts. During the summer, however, his mind is often idle and so gives him time to think about the violations of the law.)

Comparing June with May, Major Whitfield said the following figures represent the two months respectively: taken into juvenile court, June, 35, May, 25; committed, 43, 33; apprehended for authorities, 27, 5; and non-delinquent, 16, 14.

These 87 composed a total of 20 per cent of the 465 complaints received during June by the Monroe Police Department. Whitfield, who heads the Juvenile Division, revealed that the June total was higher than the total of all juvenile cases handled during the months of January, February, and March, 1957.

In 20 investigations, no arrests or case was made. Nine cases with arrests were listed, and 38 other cases were included in the monthly report of the Division.

Referred To Court

Of 107 delinquent children, 37 were referred to the Juvenile Court. Of these, 10 were white boys, 18 colored boys, and nine colored girls.

Twenty-nine white youths and seven girls were counseled and released by juvenile authorities, as were four colored youths and three girls.

Twenty-seven were apprehended by the Monroe Police Department for other authorities, including 11 white youths, two girls, two colored boys and two girls.

High Court Weighs Case Against GI

WASHINGTON (UP)—Eight Supreme Court justices sit down today to weigh the fate of GI William S. Girard, whom the United States wants to deliver to Japan for a manslaughter trial.

After hearing almost four hours of argument Monday on the stormy issue, the court took it under advisement without saying when a decision would be forthcoming.

Chief Justice Earl Warren gave both sides permission to file additional data by this morning if they wish. The fact that such a brief time was allowed pointed to an early ruling.

Government "Sellout" Charged

New York attorneys Joseph S. Robinson and Earl J. Carroll, counsel for Girard, told the court the constitutional rights of the 21-year-old Ottawa, Ill., soldier had been "sold out" by the executive branch of the government for political reasons. He said U.S. troops overseas are immune from local laws.

U.S. Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin, spokesman for the government, said American troops are entitled only to such immunity as a foreign sovereign is willing to permit. He said this country acted properly under U.S.-Japanese agreements in waiving whatever rights it had in the Girard case.

Girard is charged by the Japanese with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Naka Sakai, a Japanese citizen, last Jan. 30 on a firing range during a pause in Army maneuvers.

Government Side Favored?

The government appealed to the Supreme Court after Federal District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy on June 18 forbade surrender of the soldier to Japan.

Since Justice William O. Douglas already had left the country on vacation the case was heard by an eight-judge court. The members had obviously studied all documents filed on the case.

Questions from the bench, in which all the justices participated to an unusual extent, seemed to indicate a leaning towards the government's side.

and Juvenile Division, including one white youth, two girls, four colored boys and two girls.

Theft was first on the number of cases, with 12 cases involving 13 juveniles listed. The largest number of youths involved in any one category was 19, in eight cases of disturbing the peace.

Next in order came 17 juveniles in seven cases of burglary, 13 in six cases of vandalism, 10 runaways in seven cases, and seven in three cases of disorderly public conduct.

Auto theft was charged against five youths in three cases, discharging firearms against five in two cases, and four juveniles were involved in one case of sexual misconduct.

Three youths were listed in three cases of incorrigibles, three others were involved in one theft of articles from an auto, and three missive persons in two cases were handled by the division.

Assault was committed by two youths in one case, two others were involved in aggravated battery, and one was listed as drunk.

Whitfield commented on the great interest that the members of the Monroe Police Department have shown in assisting in every way possible with juvenile cases.

The Goal Is The Same

Only time will tell whether Americans should be overjoyed about the shakeup in Soviet Russia. Generally speaking, however, it is good news whenever one of the top Red rulers is knocked off—one way or the other.

But it should be kept in mind that the overall goal of the Communist never changes. That goal is complete world domination and the elimination of a few Communists by fellow Communists doesn't change the basic aim.

Lt. Gen. A. C. Jeltov, supporting Marshal Zhukov on the ouster principals in the current Kremlin purge, made this emphatically clear there is to be no departure from basic Red strategy. The goal of capitalism's destruction remains unchanged. Said the Red army leader and confidante of Zhukov:

"Today we can proclaim that all attempts to crack and undermine discipline and unity of the Party will be met with lightning blows of the Communist Party and the Soviet Army and Navy. They remain, and always will be, faithful to the great cause."

The current purge simply means that the No. 1 Communist Party man, Nikita S. Khrushchev, apparently has come out on top in the fight inside the Kremlin for power. In this, he had the support and backing of Zhukov.

Two of those ousted, Georgi Malen-kov, and Vyacheslav M. Molotov, obviously were of the old Stalin school. And in Molotov, the West had an unrelenting foe—one with whom it was impossible to work out a solution on anything.

Molotov's removal as first deputy premier and minister of state control could aid in easing the strain between Russia and the West. Khrushchev has been more inclined to attempt to work out solutions to certain problems, although it is true he has failed to give very much on any of them. Nevertheless, responsible officials in this country believe it is possible to work with Khrushchev on certain issues, but impossible with any of the others.

It is still hard to tell how far-reaching the current purge will be or what will be the ultimate end. It could be both good and bad for this country. It is true high Communists quarreling among themselves have less time for devilment outside their own country. But many a nation beset with internal troubles has found it expedient to stir up outside trouble, therefore manufacturing a rallying point and a force for unification.

Therefore, the Kremlin's political regrouping does not justify even the slightest letdown of the free world's guard. Probably to the contrary, the West should redouble its vigilance.

Sorghum Opportunity

Studying soil bank abuses, Secretary Benson of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is reported to be ready to clamp down. Congressional investigators learned that many soil bank signers reduction of surpluses is impossible.

The two most prominent examples are that cotton producers turned to more wheat and wheat growers planted more grain sorghums. Benson, attacking surpluses, wants total acreage reduction of all soil-depleting crops.

Perhaps high plains states can ask for no special dispensation, while the solution of the surplus problem is sought, but grain sorghums certainly open an avenue to the improved agricultural economy of that region.

This is an excellent year for sorghums barring overwetness, and the sorghums provide one way to livestock recovery. The plains need more farm production in non-wheat lines. Livestock and its products offer the opportunity. Ample feed would also save the government many millions in distress feed distribution.

Metals Plentiful

Is America's mining industry facing the same problem its farmers have encountered because they are producing too much? Or are surpluses of minerals piling up because of competition from imports?

Until recently this situation was disguised because Washington was building up a strategic metals stockpile. The government decided that for defense purposes it should have a stockpile of at least $11 billion worth of strategic metals.

The stockpile program was started immediately after World War II, but it was broadened in 1954. But the new objectives now appear within reach, and the mining industry is worried about what will happen when the entire $11 billion goal is reached.

After that there will be no compelling reason for the government to continue buying such metals as tungsten, fluor spar, columbian-tantalum, lead and zinc in appreciable quantities. Since there is not the civilian market for those metals that there is for steel, iron and nickel, there will be a great economic shock for those industries as the program ends.

Already talk is turning to a "long range" program to preserve these industries for a war eventually. This could include subsidies, tariffs or quotas on imports, special tax benefits, etc. Tariffs alone would not be costly to American taxpayers.

Dulles' Worst Fault Is Snap Judgements Such As Girard Case

By Fulton Lewis

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles, whose worst fault is making snap judgments and then finding himself stuck with them, has plumped President Eisenhower into a major dilemma in the case of the G. I. William S. Girard, and his trial in Japanese courts.

There has been long-simmering resentment in Congress regarding the status of forces treaties and agreements by which such procedure is possible.

Two years ago, when Ike's armed forces reserve legislation was under consideration in the House, the young and aggressive GOP Rep. Frank Bow of Canton, O., introduced an amendment to terminate the status of forces system. To the surprise of everyone—Bow included—it was adopted, 174 to 56.

House leaders frantically arranged to kill the entire armed forces reserve bill, and started a new draft through the legislative mill, under procedures that made it impossible for Bow to repeat.

But the surrender of Girard to the Japanese has rekindled a wildfire that refuses to be quenched. Rep. Bow is back in business and has won an 18 to 8 approval of his proposal—this time as a resolution in its own right, not a mere amendment on something else—by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

If it reaches a vote, it will pass easily in both House and Senate. If the President vetoes it, it might even get the necessary two-thirds vote to override the veto. In either event, Rep. Bow can expect it later as an amendment to the foreign aid bill. The President would have to take it or give up the foreign aid.

Speaker Sam Rayburn has let it be known that this time he will use no procedural tricks to save the administration's day.

Mr. Dulles was playing it by ear the fateful afternoon, at the White House when he persuaded the President to overrule Army Secretary Brucker—who wanted to hold Girard for U. S. court martial—and leave it to the Japanese courts.

The explanation now is that he was thinking solely in terms of favorable reaction from the Japanese government and people. He forgot that his own position was untenable.

State Department personnel in foreign countries have complete diplomatic immunity. They can be drunk and disorderly, run pedestrians down in their automobiles, violate laws of the country in which they are stationed, and there is nothing the foreign government can do.

(The same, incidentally, is true of foreign diplomatic personnel in this country, as the inhabitants of Washington, D.C., can painfully testify.)

In spite of this preferred status for themselves, however, the State Department negotiated these status of forces agreement in which the comparable rights of armed services personnel are bartered away for some fancied public relations gain.

Worse, in the case of Girard, the SOF agreement did not apply because Girard was on duty, but even if he were not, it would not apply to him.

Also, the diplomatic personnel are in their jobs by choice. They even have a selection as to where they are to be assigned.

The nonofficer personnel of the armed services are largely young men who have been drafted through no wish of their own, and are assigned to overseas duty whether they like it or not.

Each GI is given a manual at the port of embarkation, setting forth, in detail, the rules that will apply abroad. There is a special section dealing specifically with Japan. Note the following:

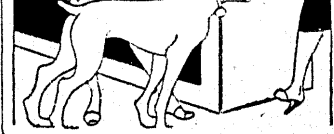

"The United States has primary jurisdiction over military and civilian personnel who commit offenses while on official duty, or offenses solely against another security force member, or offenses involving only property of the United States or its personnel."

"For example, if Sergeant Smith, while driving an official car on government business, kills a Japanese pedestrian, the sergeant is subject only to court martial, since the United States has primary jurisdiction, because the offense took place while the soldier was on official business."

Incipient Stages Of A Social Revolution Among Reds Revealed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The incipient stages of a social revolution inside the Soviet Union and within the satellite states are revealed before the world today. The inexorable laws of human nature—the inevitable pressure against an economic discipline imposed by force—are working inside the Communist-Socialist state, as an official communique from Moscow confirms.

The significance of what has just happened is not in the clash of personalities. It is not that three leaders have been kicked out and that another leader—whereupon the Soviet dictator Khrushchev—has gained in political prestige. The true meaning is in the incipient stages of a social revolution inside the Soviet Union and within the satellite states are revealed before the world today.

The encouragement of the "creative energies" of the people. For there is such a thing as "public opinion" in Russia—even though it may be potential in its threat rather than actual in its operation. This is illustrated by a remark once made by Josef Stalin to the late Harry Hopkins, who was in Moscow as President Roosevelt's personal representative explaining the termination of the lend-lease program after the war. Stalin said something to the effect on "public opinion" and Hopkins looked skeptical.

He said: "Yes, we do have public opinion to reckon with in Russia." This is an important truism of the official communique itself. For today the dominant party in which again and again speaks of the Soviet Union recognizes the need for "incentives" and for tremendous forces at work underneath. These can blow up at any moment into a physical revolution.

New Fall Fashions Leave Nothing To Imagination

By Inez Robb

By early autumn the professional Peeping Toms in this country are going to be out of work. An advance scrutiny of the new fall fashions for my sex reveal—and, boy, is that verb used advisedly!—that everything is going to be out in the open and nothing left to the imagination in 1957-58. Tom can look—and legally—to his heart's content.

As far as I can figure out, any chic dress for after-5 p.m. wear consists of a skirt, slit to the knee either in front or at the sides, with an itty-bitty bit arrangement above the waist and fore, and absolutely nothing else.

Brandma would have said that there wasn't enough material in these dresses to flag a bread-wagon. And Kipling put it another way when he described Gunga Din's clothing thus:

"The uniform 'e wore
Was nothin' much before,
And less than 'arf o' that be'ind."

Some time ago I wrote a column predicting that this nation would go nudist in another 20 to 25 years. I now wish to shave about 15 years off that estimate. It is later and lesser than you think.

This is the season that bares not only the back—and just as far south as the law allows—but the rib cage. To ventilate the open cage and get it out into the open together with the rear facade, the courtesiers of New York's Seventh Avenue and the courtesiers have gotten together to perfect what is soon to be advertised as "the backless, frontless and strapless brassiere."

Like myself, you may well ask what is left of this garment, save possibly the uplift or the down-draft, after the front, back and the straps have been removed.

What is left is a couple of wired containers joined by a V-shaped piece of pipe that drops earthward of Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland's (Calif.) mopings on the rib cage, this contraption is ingeniously held in place, not by glue or faith, but by narrow elastic that fastens around the trunk a little south of the waistline.

There will soon be a black evening dress on the market whose top consists of leopard straps strategically crossed in front, and a second whose bib is reduced to a band of fox where it will do the most good. The bodice, slashed in front to the waistline, that seem to be daring last spring is now for the conservative trade.

If there is less going on above, the same condition prevails below. Full skirts will hang a good 17 inches from the floor, and the tight ones will be only an inch and a half to two inches longer.

A spokesman for the Couture Group of the New York Dress Institute said it was looking forward to "a successfully naked season" and feels there is no question of overexposure this side of the velvet, on which Miss Gypsy Rose Lee has a patent.

However, this will be a difficult season for the woman with a rubber tire around her middle. Her rib cage could look more like a beer barrel.

As for the men, visibility will be practically unlimited, because 1957-58 clothes are real gone—in fact, practically all gone.

The Accent In This Country Is On Youth

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The accent in America is on youth, and most of us feel that as a nation we treat our elders rather shamefully.

We neglect them. We take them for granted. We assume often wrongly—that a retired man is an economic burden on the country's economy.

Some of the contractors in today's depressed housing market, however, are taking another look at the picture—and awaking to the fact that one of the big answers to their problem is to build more homes for the old folks. The right kind of homes—homes designed for their special needs.

In the trade the term often used is "homes for retirement living."

One of the new pioneers in this field is N. R. (Tubby) Field, a prominent attorney who left his native Owensboro, Ky., and made a fortune as a builder in Florida and Denver, Colo.

"Tubby," a light-eyed, gray-haired man with a booming voice, erected nearly $100,000,000 in housing during the postwar building boom. Like most builders, he concentrated on houses for young growing families. Who cared about the old folks?

But when the market began to tighten, Field checked prospective customers, architects and engineers. He came up with this idea: One reason for the home-building recession is that few builders paid enough attention to the needs of the elderly.

"There are 15 million people in the United States 65 or over," said Field, whose own parents are over 70. "In 20 years there will be 21 million."

"Surprisingly, there is no hesitancy among older people to buy new houses after retirement. And 50 per cent of the elderly, having sold their old homes, are in a position to pay cash when they buy a new home for their retirement years."

But elderly persons, having sold their former homes, want a new home more suited to their years. Field, after checking extensive surveys of the situation by Florida state agencies, has incorporated these special features in a new 2,000-acre, 8,000-home development he is building at Bonterra Beach, a few miles from Palm Beach. The homes, plus a swimming pool, start at $13,500.

How do these "retirement homes" differ from ordinary housing? A few examples:

"Trouble bells" in bedroom and living room to summon aid from neighbors... bathtubs with built-in seats and grab-bars... no stairs or thresholds to fall down or trip over... glass window walls to admit more light to help failing vision... electric outlets at waist level to avoid bending... and luminous light switches... wall refrigerators and ovens at chest level (also to avoid bending)... pantries with eye level shelves... garbage disposal units to eliminate unnecessary lifting and extra steps... extra wide doors throughout the house to permit passage of wheelchairs... swimming pools with grab rails... a gently sloping ramp entrance... and a non-slip floor.

QUESTION: How do you think you can make any impression on New York? I have lived there and I know it is a tough place. F. H. T.

ANSWER: There is no possibility that I can make any impression on New York. Any news coverage connected with the campaign will be but a trivial and passing matter. Only as this campaign is centered in Christ and His Gospel can an impression be made. The basis and hope of the meetings in New York rests in the Gospel and it is a great Gospel. The Bible tells us that the preaching of the Cross of Christ and all that implies is the power of God. This same Gospel has been used down through the centuries to tear down the strongholds of sin and wickedness in the lives of individuals and nations and my only confidence is in that Gospel. Not only do I have confidence in the message and the Christ which it proclaims, I also have confidence in the prayers of tens of thousands of people around the world who will be praying for God's blessing on that which is said and done. I also have confidence in the work of the Holy Spirit for I know that He takes the word and in a very real, although supernatural way, uses it to speak to the hearts of men. I also have confidence in the Bible because it is the Word of the Spirit and because it has been demonstrated again and again that its divine truths touch hearts and minds and turn them to Christ. I have absolutely no confidence in what I can do but I have every confidence in what God can do.

Too Little Been Written About Wrestling Upsurge

By Henry McLemore

NEW YORK — Much too little has been written about the recent upsurge in popularity of professional wrestling in this country.

The tremendous growth in favor of the arm and the twist is a most favorable sign of our nation's condition. When the grunt and groaner pack halls from coast to coast, one need not fear too greatly for the country's safety or economic welfare.

A Standing Room Only sign outside a wrestling match is more reassuring than any statement that could be issued by the Pentagon or the secretary of the treasury.

Why? Well, for one thing, studies by psychologists (I forget just which ones) have shown that a worried people do not attend wrestling matches. Wrestling and worry just don't mix.

To enjoy wrestling fully, a fan must have nothing on his mind—absolutely nothing. If he has had nothing on it for two or three days, so much the better.

The blunder the mind, the more its owner yells and screeches at the contestants, the more he protests the activities of the referee. When a wrestling devotee's head is completely blank, he will often yell, "Frame-up!" if the decision goes against his hero.

He doesn't realize it, but the fan who yells "Frame-up" is yelling the pure truth, as it is generally known that the outcome of matches is as fixed as the movements of the heavenly bodies.

An evening at a wrestling match serves as a bracing tonic for a worrier. If you find yourself fretting about nuclear fallout, or the situation in the Middle East, go where the massive ones are heaving, pulling, and falling in and out of the ring on their unbreakable skulls, and look about you. Soon you'll be saying to yourself, "Why am I worrying? No one else is."

You'll leave the hall refreshed, your confidence renewed. You'll realize that there are thousands of your fellow citizens who feel that all is right and whose worry is that Chief Breakbones won't give The Ape Man a return match for the championship of the Hudson Bay Territory.

A country that supports wrestling with a bang cannot possibly be a country where money is scarce. Surveys have shown that when money is tight, wrestling is almost the first thing that people give up. Only real wrestling diehards rank it ahead of food, clothing and shelter in importance.

This, say the same psychologists whose names I have forgotten, is a good sign. It would not be healthy for a country to be peopled with men and women who cling to attendance at wrestling matches in preference to creature wants.

This would amount to addiction, and would be terrible. Some historians (I forget their names, too) say this happened in ancient Greece and was a major factor in changing Greece from a nation of orators to a nation of small restaurant owners.

I was delighted to learn that in recent months crowds of upwards of 18,000 have been packing Madison Square Garden to watch the wrestlers at work and play. A citizen couldn't ask for a better sign of his country's health and prosperity.

A good time to topdress alfalfa is during the dormant season or right after the first or second cutting. If you do it after a cutting, be sure to do it immediately to avoid burning new growth.

Baseball Stars In St. Louis For All-Star Game

Bunning Starter For American; Rival Unnamed

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
ST. LOUIS (UP)—National League manager Walt Alston added a time of mystery to the 24th annual All-Star Game today by deciding to wait "until just before game time" before naming his starting pitcher.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' pilot first leaned towards Curt Simmons, the Philadelphia Phillies' comeback left hander, but indicated Monday night he might give the assignment to another southpaw, Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants.

"I remember how well Antonelli pitched for me in the All-Star Game last year, and I have a feeling he might turn back those American Leaguers more effectively than Simmons," said Alston, who added, "I might not make up my mind until just before game time."

The annual mid-season classic, which will be broadcast and televised nationally (NBC), was scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. CDT at Busch Stadium.

Bunning AL Starter

American League manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees declined to engage in any such guessing game. Iked over his none-too-glossy All-Star record—he has been beaten five times in six tries—Stengel selected Jim Bunning, the Detroit Tigers' side-arming right hander, as his starting pitcher. Bunning has won 10 games and lost two this year.

Simmons has posted eight victories and lost four for the Phillies this season after being considered "washed up" last year. Antonelli's record is a mediocre 7-7, but Alston still can't forget how the nifty Giants' lefty fished in last year's 7-9 NL victory at Washington.

During a four-inning stint, Antonelli held the American Leaguers to four hits and yielded no runs and no walks. If he is chosen as the NL starter, Simmons probably will be by-passed by Jack Sanford of the Phillies or Larry Jackson of the St. Louis Cardinals for the middle three innings.

Loes No. 2
For his second hurler—no All-Star pitcher is allowed to work more than three innings—Stengel indicated he would call on the Baltimore Orioles' Billy Loes. He would then have two lefties—his own Bobby Shantz and the Chicago White Sox' Billy Pierce available for the late innings.

In naming the remainder of his lineup, Stengel, along with Alston, had no choice except to arrange the batting order. The other eight starters were determined by the fan poll, although baseball Commissioner Ford Frick scratched two Cincinnati players from the National League lineup because of a late-hour avalanche of votes by Redleg fans.

Willie Mays of the Giants was picked to start in center field and Hank Aaron was named to open in right field for the National Leaguers by Frick. The other NL starters included catcher Ed Bailey of Cincinnati, first baseman Stan Musial of St. Louis, second baseman Johnny Temple of Cincinnati, shortstop Roy McMillan of Cincinnati, third baseman Don Hoak of Cincinnati, and left fielder Frank Robinson of Cincinnati.

Two Yanks Start
Stengel had two of his own Yankees in the AL starting lineup—catcher Yogi Berra and center fielder Mickey Mantle. The other starters were first baseman Vic Wertz of Cleveland, second baseman Nellie Fox of Chicago, shortstop Harvey Kuenn of Detroit, third baseman George Kell of Baltimore, left fielder Ted Williams of Boston, and right fielder Al Kaline of Detroit.

The National Leaguers, victors in six of the last seven classics, remained a slim 6-5 favorite for this latest renewal before a sell-out crowd of 31,000.

The weatherman predicted partly cloudy skies with a chance of showers ending in the forenoon. In the event of rain, the game will be re-scheduled for tonight. A continuous downpour would delay the game until Wednesday morning or afternoon.

Delhi Legion Team Defeats Rayville 9-8

DELHI, La., (Special)—James Hosea's four-hit pitching and some timely hitting by "Buster" Hammons and Phillip Simms carried the Delhi American Legion Juniors to a 9-8 victory over Rayville yesterday afternoon and erased any hopes of Rayville attaining the Fifth District playoffs.

After Delhi bagged three runs in the first inning, Rayville put on a seven-run splurge in the second frame on to have Delhi tie the score in the third. One run in the fifth frame sent Rayville ahead again, and Delhi tied with one in the sixth, but Hammons' triple in the last inning, followed by Simms' single iced the game away for Delhi.

Delhi combed four Rayville pitchers for ten hits. Tonight Delhi will be playing at Bastrop and the locals close their district campaign at Columbia tomorrow.

Ruston Drops Columbia By 2 To 1 Score

RUSTON, La. (Special)—Ruston was assured of no worse than a tie for first place in the Fifth District American Legion Junior baseball race last night by defeating Columbia, 2 to 1. The loss knocked Columbia out of first. The game closed Ruston's regular schedule and the league leaders now await the district's four-club playoff.

While Hood and Fuller held Columbia to four hits last night, Joiner's 3-for-3 and a triple by Smith led Ruston's six-hit attack.

Score by innings:
Columbia 010 000 0-1 4 1
Ruston 020 000 X-2 6 1

Hester and Smith: Hood, Fuller 7 and Smith.

SECOND DIVISION HURLERS

Earned Run Competition Lead By Bunning, Purkey

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Right-handers Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers and Bob Purkey of the Pittsburgh Pirates, each starting for a second division ball club, are the mid-season leaders in the major league earned run competition.

Lookouts' Minnick Outstanding Hurler In Southern League

Scratch the Barons from his record and Minnick would be well on his way to a repeat of his amazing 1955 feat of winning his first 16 decisions. He did it at Reading, Pa., in the Eastern League.

Birmingham routed him last May 30 in his first loss and tagged him with setback No. 2 last night. They chased him in the third inning en route to an 8-4 triumph over the Lookouts. Minnick, a 10-game winner, was gunning for his eighth consecutive victory.

Ford Frick Re-Elected Baseball Commissioner

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, re-elected to a seven-year term at $65,000 per year, thinks it is "inconceivable" that New York should become a one-club town.

In the face of consistent reports that the Brooklyn Dodgers are going to Los Angeles and the New York Giants to San Francisco, the commissioner expressed a "purely personal opinion" today.

"I think it is inconceivable that a team with a population of 15 million should have only one franchise," he said. "If the Dodgers and Giants should move—and I am not saying they will—I think the territory should be left open for another team. I think it should be declared open territory for any league."

The matter of franchise moves came up at the National League meeting, shortly before the 62-year-old Frick was re-elected at the joint meeting of the two leagues for a term running to Sept. 21, 1965. His current term expires in 1958.

The Dodgers and Giants got permission to move to Los Angeles and San Francisco at a special National League meeting in Chicago May 25. President Warren Giles said he brought up the matter himself.

"I think it is incumbent upon the president of the National League to ask Mr. O'Malley (Walter O'Malley, Dodger president) and Mr. Stoneham (Horace Stoneham, Giants president) if they have anything definite to report," said Giles. "I turned directly to both men and both answered, 'Not a thing.'"

Title Bout For Moore, Tony Anthony In Offing

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Representatives of singer Frank Sinatra today hoped to put the finishing touches on arrangements for a heavyweight title bout between Archie Moore and Tony Anthony here early in September.

Attorney Jules Covey, who represents Sinatra, was in conference Monday with Moore, who is here from his San Diego, Calif., home and with Anthony's manager, Ernie Braca, and his adviser, George Gairford, who is Sugar Ray Robinson's manager.

Covey said he hoped to be able to submit documents to the California Athletic Commission today which "would indicate that they have arrived at a meeting of minds on this matter."

Covey said he planned to telephone Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York Athletic Commission and the World Championship Boxing Commission, to report on the status of the negotiations.

Helfand Monday denied reports that he had stripped Archie Moore of his 175-pound title. Covey said, however, that Helfand had set noon EDT today, as the deadline for completion of arrangements for the bout.

American Hopes To Regain Tennis Title Soaring

NEW YORK (UP)—United States hopes of regaining the Davis Cup soared today while Australian tennis officials blasted Lew Hoad for turning pro.

"The Davis Cup competition is wide open now that Lew has turned pro," said Renville H. McCann, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. "His decision certainly has helped our chances and the chances of other countries, too. We have great hopes."

When Hoad accepted a record $125,000 contract Monday from promoter Jack Kramer, he left the tennis-mad Australians without an experienced Cup player to defend the amateur game's most coveted trophy next December.

The Lawn Tennis Assn. of Australia reacted by accusing Hoad of breaking a written promise not to turn pro until Jan. 31, 1958, and moved to bar Kramer's troupe from its big stadiums.

In Los Angeles, Pancho Gonzalez said Kramer would have to get a man to take his place in the Tournament of Champions at Forest Hills, N.Y., if Hoad is an entrant. The tournament starts Saturday and will mark Lew's pro debut.

"If Hoad is in the Tournament of Champions, I'm out of it," Gonzalez said. "This is unfair to me. I had been looking forward to playing Hoad in a head-to-head tour for the world championship. Any previous meetings in tournaments would detract from next year's big tour."

Wrestling Match Develops Into Free-For-All Here

As Jimmy Durante would say, "Everybody is gettin' into de act." The amateurs again stole the show at Kallio's.

The third round of the night's feature tag-team match developed into a free-for-all when Frank Hurley had a difference of opinion with referee C. C. Cook and started slugging it out with him. All the wrestlers got in on the fight and the ring began to look like a miniature war.

One fan crawled into the ring to stop the fight, another hit Hurley with a chair and another pulled Mr. X's mask off. Needless to say, the audience enjoyed it hugely.

After the match, it was learned that district athletic commissioner T. C. Silverstein had fined all 4 wrestlers involved in the fracas $5 each.

After he got from under Hurley Cook awarded the match to George Curtis and Bill Barney by disqualification of Mr. X and Hurley.

The Hurley - Mr. X team had won the first fall when Hurley defeated Barney with a body slam and press. Curtis came back to take the second fall for his side when he slammed Hurley on his rear and applied a press for the count.

All the preliminary matches were draws. The first event was Hurley vs. Barney. George Curtis refereed it and at one point he and Barney ganged up on the naughty Hurley and whacked him good a couple of times.

Gulf Life Takes Bowling League Lead By 1 Point

Alexandria Keeps Grip On Lead Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alexandria's charmed grip on the Evangeline League's 1957 all-star game survived a 14-hit attack by the league's toughest players last night as the Aces took a 7-6 victory on pinchhitter Jack Davis' solo home run.

The Alexandria charm caused directors of the league to pick Alexandria as host for the game because the Aces were the only team drawing fans. The charm clicked again at the last minute and sent the Aces into first place the night before the game.

Manager Ken Silvestri of Alexandria used it for the last time when he decided to call in Davis as a pinchhitter for Rudy Riska in the sixth inning. With 1,203 fans watching, Davis blasted a homer that sent Alexandria ahead 7-4 and iced the contest.

First scoring by the All-Stars came in the top of the sixth. A single by Hank Robinson and a double by Jim Nisewonger, combined with two errors and three walks, sent in four runs. The losers added two more in the seventh, with Robinson's single scoring Bill Tompkins and a walk to Joe McElroy with the bases loaded forcing in Robinson.

Alexandria opened the scoring in the first when Bob Mayer got a solo homer. The Aces got five runs on four hits in the second inning—singles by Bill Carr, Bill Johnson, Dave Davis and Red Irby—plus two walks and a fielder's choice.

The All-Stars employed five pitchers, the Aces four. Bob Riese was the winner, Don Gorron-dona the loser.

Sixteen men were stranded on bases by the All-Stars, four by Alexandria.

Players on the All-Star team and their home clubs were: Crowley—Roger Herrscher, Dave Gorrie, Claude Horn, Gordon MacKenzie, Leon Webrand, Bob Voegtlin, and Dan Pfister. Lake Charles—Joe Muller, Joe McElroy, Bob White, Bill Tompkins, and Don Corron-dona. Thibodaux—Jim Nisewonger, Don Williams, Mike Semonik and Hank Robinson.

The league settles back into its regular schedule tonight, with Crowley at Alexandria and Lake Charles at Thibodaux.

Buffalo Has Firm Hold On 1st Place

By UNITED PRESS

The Buffalo Bisons, following manager Phil Cavaretta's victory diet to the letter, had a firmer grip on the International League lead today.

Under Cavaretta's direction, the Bisons have reeled off 13 triumphs in their last 16 games for an .833 percentage and a 1 1/2-game lead.

Toronto, Buffalo's closest pursuer, threw everything but manager Dixie Walker against the leaders Monday night—to no avail. Buffalo scored seven runs in the third and three more in the eighth for a 10-6 victory. Steve Nagy, in relief of Walt Craddock, recorded his fifth triumph. Ed Blake, first of five Toronto hurlers, absorbed the defeat.

Other Monday night action saw Rochester belt the Montreal Royals, 9-2. Richmond edge Columbus, 6-5, and Miami defeat Havana, 8-5.

Kelton Russell scattered six hits in registering his second successive victory while his Rochester mates collected 11 off Montreal starter - loser Billy Harris, Leo Cristante and Chuck Page. Gene Green homered for the winners.

An eighth-inning Columbus rally drove Jim Kite to the showers but Richmond's Sonny Dixon put out the fire enabling Kite, who broke a personal four-game losing streak to notch his sixth triumph. A two-run homer by Howie Goss accounted for the Columbus scoring.

Frank Herrera and Saul Rogovin combined talents to facilitate Miami's conquest of Havana in a game played at Tampa, Fla. Rogovin, though needing aid from Tommy Qualters in the seventh, gained his first league victory. Herrera drove in five runs with two home runs off Jerry Lane, second successor of loser Manny Cuche. Orlando Pena and Jessie Heard also hurled for Havana.

Ford wins the battle of the builds

Sure! Many people buy Fords because of their long, low, whistle-collecting looks. Do you blame them? But beauty alone isn't enough to earn for a car the No. 1 spot in America's heart. And that's just what Ford has earned. The real secrets of Ford's success are the extra values that go into building a Ford. Let's look at a few of these features. Ford shares them only with a select number of America's most expensive cars. But you get them at low Ford prices.

1. Only Ford in its field has a frame design that lets you ride within the side members for greater roominess, smoothness and safety.
2. Only Ford in its field gives you a modern V-8 engine with rigid, deep-block design for smoother, quieter, longer-lived operation.
3. Only Ford in its field offers automatic variable-rate rear springs that automatically adjust to give a smoother ride on roughest roads.
4. Only Ford in its field offers new sweep-back ball-joint front suspension that "rolls with the punch."
5. Only Ford in its field offers as many as five strengthening roof cross members for a more rigid roof.
6. Only Ford offers such a saving-fuel car. A Ford Six beat all other cars in the Mobilgas Economy Run in the miles-per-gallon department.
7. Only Ford in its field offers a frame with 3 tubular cross members. There are 5 cross members in all... enabling the frame to withstand stress from all directions.
8. Only Ford electronically balances every V-8 engine while it's operating under its own power.
9. Only Ford in its field offers so much soundproofing for a quieter ride under all road conditions.
10. Only Ford in its field offers such a well sealed body for greater freedom from dust wherever you go.
11. Only Ford in its field offers rear door assist springs and two-position front door checks for easier entrance.

FOR N. O. MAYOR

Paper Points Up Candidate Hunt

NEW ORLEANS — UP — Lt. Gov. Lether Frazier and New Orleans Councilman Fred Cassibry are working together to name the next mayor of the Crescent City, according to the New Orleans Item.

Cassibry and Frazier have made calls sounding out various leaders as possible candidates for mayor, the Item said.

"What Frazier's interest is in the New Orleans mayoralty race is not clear," the Item's story said. "However, there has been speculation that Frazier wants to run for governor next time around."

Frazier Denies Story

Frazier was surprised by the story and said "I don't know anything about it."

"I haven't seen Cassibry—the last time I saw him was at some banquet and we didn't talk about the mayor's race," the lieutenant governor added.

"I consider the New Orleans mayoralty election the job of the people of New Orleans," Frazier continued and repeated he had not discussed it with Cassibry.

No Comment On Race

The speculation he might want to run for governor?

"I have no comment at this time," Frazier said.

Cassibry is considered an independent, but he was elected to the council with support of the Regular Democratic Organization support. The RDO also backed Gov. Earl Long and Frazier in 1956.

Cassibry took Long's side in 1956 against the proposed constitutional amendment requiring a two-thirds vote of the legislature to raise taxes. The amendment carried despite Long's stumping tour against it.

Use Similar Arguments

Cassibry and Long used similar arguments against the amendment, both calling it a "rich man's bill, backed by the big oil and gas companies and other large interests."

The Item said the Cassibry-Frazier "team" has had little luck finding a candidate for mayor.

"Cassibry is thinking about running for the top spot himself, the Item said. "Cassibry, Rep. Fred

Donaldson, and Sen. John Pette have formed a new organization, "Independent Democratic Election Committee" (IDEA), and claim to have lined up a complete ticket to run in the next mayoralty campaign.

HIGHWAY ROUTE

Huckaby Slated To Explain Why Site Was Chosen

Wayne Huckaby, district state highway engineer, will address the Monroe Kiwanis club tomorrow at noon when he will explain "why the proposed location of the new federal highway through Monroe is the most feasible route" in the eyes of the state highway department.

Fred Fudickar, chairman of the Kiwanis Public Affairs Committee, arranged the program. He pointed out that any non-Kiwanian would be welcome to attend the meeting if arrangements are made through a Kiwanis member.

Huckaby, one of the foremost advocates of the highway crossing the Ouachita river near the Central Grammar school, has been working closely with other engineers assigned to the task of selecting a location for the transcontinental highway through Monroe.

Chief opponents to the selected site for the highway route have withdrawn efforts to have the highway located in another place. Mayor W. L. Howard, who led the opposition, has withdrawn a move to relocate the highway and announced "full cooperation" with highway authorities in building the highway on whatever site they select.

ON MISSILE TESTING

Air Force Urging Wilson To Revoke News Blackout

WASHINGTON, July 9 (UP) — The Air Force is protesting to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson about the news blackout on guided missile tests, a spokesman said today.

The action was disclosed by Brig. Gen. Arnold H. Leuhman, Air Force Information Chief, in testimony before a House subcommittee investigating defense information policies.

Leuhman said he and other officers have asked Air Secretary James Douglas to appeal to Wilson to reverse a memorandum issued April 25 by Assistant Defense Secretary Murray Snyder.

Snyder's directive permits the Air Force to admit that a missile has been fired and to say whether any casualties resulted. But it forbids disclosure of the type of missile or any other details.

Leuhman told the subcommittee that the Air Force has been criticized wrongfully for lack of progress on missiles. He said Snyder's directive should be modified so the Air Force could "give the public an idea of how we have progressed."

Queried On Leaks

Leuhman and Brig. Gen. A. J. Kinney, former Air Force Information chief, were questioned by subcommittee chairman John E. Moss (D-Calif.) about leaks of classified information.

Both said they knew of no instances of any documents being stolen by newsmen. Rear Adm. E. B. Taylor, Navy Information Chief, said he likewise was not aware of any such cases.

A commission which studied government security programs recently recommended that it be made a crime to publish government secrets. Commission Chairman Lloyd Wright referred to instances where newsmen "purloined" data.

Maj. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Army Information Chief, testified last Monday he had never encountered such a case.

Leuhman said the Air Force tries to maintain secrecy on production centers of its weapons and planes as long as possible. But this often becomes impossible after a plane is test flown, he said.

Afternoon Tea Compliments Miss Marietta Spatafora Before Her Church Wedding On Thursday

Attractive summer flowers decorated the home of Mrs. Tom Mulhearn on North 7th St. when she and Mrs. Joe Haddad gave a tea shower honoring Miss Marietta Spatafora before her marriage last week to Lannie Paul Henley.

Mrs. Mulhearn greeted the guests and presented them to the receiving line where Mrs. Haddad, Miss Spatafora and her mother, Mrs. John Spatafora, stood. The honoree received in frock of pink organza with which she wore white accessories.

The mantle in the living room was banked with yellow chrysanthemums and in the dining room the buffet held yellow and white blossoms flanked by yellow tapers in silver holders. A miniature bride and groom centered the tea table which was covered with a white cloth garlanded with ivy. Presiding at the tea service was Mrs. Joe Maggion and assisting her was Miss Betty Rose Haddad and Miss Barbara Mulhearn. Miss Maria Maggion asked the guests to register.

EMILY POST

Single Office Girls Are Husbands' Responsibility If Invited By Him

Dear Mrs. Post: An organization to which I belong gave a luncheon the other day at one of the hotels. The purpose of the luncheon was to raise money for a particular charity. I brought two tickets and invited my sister-in-law as my guest. During the course of the afternoon, the committee members came around to all the tables selling raffle tickets. My sister-in-law bought several tickets and paid for them herself. I would like to know if I was wrong to let her pay for these tickets. As she was my guest, should I have offered to pay for them?

Answer: No, there was no reason why you should have paid for tickets she chose to buy. After all if one of her tickets had won a prize it would have been hers to keep.

At A Company Dance

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I attend company dances at various times throughout the year. We usually sit with several other couples whom we know quite well at one big table. I understand that at the dance, which is coming up in two weeks, there will be several single girls from my husband's office seated at our table. I would like to know what my husband's obligations are toward them. Is it up to him to ask them to dance? Also, if they order anything to drink, should he pay for it? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: If your husband has invited them to sit at his table he will be responsible for them and should pay for their drinks and try to dance once with each of them. If, on the other hand, they are assigned to his table by the company he would not have to do either.

Making Some Return For Hospitality

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm going to spend my vacation (a week of it) in a little town in which my fiancé works. I'm staying at the house of some of his new friends, a young married couple with a small child who are strangers to me. I know from him they have not much money and I wondered how I could pay my way. I don't want to hurt their feelings. She wrote me a note inviting me.

Answer: One way would be for you and your fiancé to take them out for meals while you are there. The note of invitation from them certainly puts your stay with them on a personal basis and it would be unthinkable to consider it as anything else. You might buy the child a toy — especially if you find out something he wants.

Invitations to a large wedding, a simple wedding or a country wedding, and the reception are included in Mrs. Post's leaflet, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

MARY HAYWORTH

Otherwise Admirable Man Snubs Wife Heart-Hunger For Occasional Outings

DEAR MARY HAYWORTH: Is it infantile for a wife to want her husband to invite her out for a companionable evening occasionally? My husband thinks it is, and insists I haven't grown up, because I'd like a wee bit of sweet heart attention once in a while.

We have two children whom I love dearly, and when they were small I never would leave them with a babysitter. However, now that they are older and sleep well, I feel it would be safe to leave them with a reliable person. But my husband never asks me out to dinner, or to a movie, or to any kind of social event—unless his boss insists that wives attend some special gathering. Then we go and enjoy the evening immensely.

Don (I'll call him) is very attractive, quite brilliant, a good provider, has no temper; and I know he loves me. But he is antisocial; never wants company and dislikes visiting. Once when we had dinner guests, he had to get up and leave the house for a walk. He seems to have an escapist attitude in many ways.

Little Loved In Childhood

He likes to go his own way and be left alone; and I've tried to help him by letting him go. He likes to vacation by himself and have his own friends. I just can't figure him out.

He was an orphan, reared by a grandmother, without too much affection given him. I, on the other hand, was deeply loved by my warm-hearted family, and I do love him with all my heart—but this situation makes me terribly depressed at times. If only I could make him understand how I feel—but all I do is cry when I try to talk to him about it.

He loves the children, but not to the point of taking them on picnics and holidays; I do these things all by myself. He claims he can't change his emotions, but I feel he should at least try. I feel our lives would be so much happier if only he would give a little. Just how would you tackle this problem? P.Y.

Ruinous Brand Of Selfishness

DEAR P.Y.: Your husband's attitude as described is rigidly selfish and also on the emotionally sick side. He is ruinously selfish, inssofar as close relationships go, in his overriding insistence that your hunger for social camaraderie, on a twosome basis in marriage, is infantile, unwarranted, "wrong," etc.—and that his rejection of your weoful appeal for understanding is justified.

When he says he can't change his emotions, he lies. As long as there is life, there is the potential of spiritual health, available to the human being who concentrates on embodying it.

Anyone can change, from the deadness of pure selfishness to the liveness of compassionate regard for others' feelings, if he wills to change. If he stays unchanged—with a stone in his bosom, in place of a tender heart—that is his choice. And it is not to be white-washed as false—as a misfortune wished on him by circumstances outside his control.

Are You Ready To Go Steady?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

A bit of silly male propaganda making the rounds of junior dating circles is that there is an advantage in steady dating — for the female.

Name one. The fact that you have a boy at your beck and call for every occasion? That you can brag that you "go steady"? Are those reasons worth giving up so much time to one person during the "best years of your life?"

The fun of courtship used to be in competition, and intrigue. Nowadays Sally dates Lou, Betty dates Pete. They go out on dates with an air of resignation that married couples even find boring. Danger too exists in the fact that Sally and Lou may really marry.

Sensational Pre-View Of Fall Fashions

(Editor's Note: This is the second of five articles on the fall fashion showings this week in New York.)

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor NEW YORK (AP)—A red, white and blue plaid velvet dinner costume with shoes to match was the show today at Jane Derby's pre-view of fall fashions, on the first day of a crowded week of showings for the nation's fashion press.

The colorful and dramatic gown climaxed a showing of opulent dresses and suits designed for a prosperous and luxury-loving public.

Sensational is the only word for the Derby evening collection, which uses color with the abandon of a Fourth of July fireworks display, playing up shocker colors and brilliant metallics, along with unusual prints such as bold floral printed chiffons.

Daytime suits and costumes here are fur-bearing, slender and easy of fit. If the suits aren't fur-trimmed they are satin-trimmed, and sometimes both fur and satin are used for a luxury touch, such as a mink-collared suit tied with a big brown satin bow.

The belted and bloused silhouette is the pet of the Nettie Rosenstein collection, in marked contrast with the loose, unfitted lines predominant in most other showings. Mrs. Rosenstein likes a neat waistline, and although she doesn't cinch it, she marks it with a belt—wide or contoured but definitely shaping the silhouette.

The original advocate of the "little black dress," this designer again shows many sleek and sexy black outfits, notable among which is a long, slithering black crepe dinner dress with long sleeves and lowcut back, slit in front and looking like a suitable gown for a femme fatale.

1. If you or the boy haven't dated the opposite sex often.
2. If you are an only child.
3. If you or he have not attended co-educational schools.

4. If you have been spoiled by your family, used to getting your own way.

5. If you have an inferiority complex and always have grasped for friendship, affection, companionship hungrily.

6. If the boy has a bad character and you think you can make him over.

Sometimes one goes into a steady dating arrangement without any serious intentions. It's just the idea of keeping up with the crowd. One girl complains that she would just never get to a party or dance unless she had a steady beau. "All the boys are taken," she says, "and if you don't have one you're just out of luck or you go out with a real drip."

What difference does it make if you do sit out a few dances on your front porch? Any girl with charm should get a beau sooner or later. If she has the opportunity to date all types of boys meanwhile — fat and skinny, tall and short, dumb and bright, honest and dishonest, she will better evaluate the one — and — only when he does come along. It's awfully hard to sell caution, especially where romance and fun are concerned. But the effort to resist the propaganda that something is right because "everybody is doing it" will pay off some day.

Bad Weather Pushes Into Ohio Valley

By UNITED PRESS

Turbulent weather pushed across the Ohio Valley today in advance of a cool air mass bringing heat relief to the East.

A severe thunderstorm with winds up to 63 m.p.h. pounded Indianapolis during the early morning, and Pittsburgh was doused by 2.35 inches of rain in a six-hour period Monday night and early today.

The cool air overspread most of the Great Plains, the Great Lakes and northern Ohio Valley. It was expected to drift as far east as the Appalachians today.

The Canadian air mass forced the mercury down by as much as 20 degrees, from the high 90s and low 100s to the 80s, in Nebraska, Kansas and parts of Wisconsin and Michigan.

Violent storms produced by the front were blamed for the death of a boy a Baraboo, Wis., who was killed when a tree fell on him, and for widespread property damage in the Monroe, Wis., area.

Michigan mopped up today from one of the heaviest rain storms in its history. The deluge stalled cars and buses in flooded Detroit streets, causing major traffic jams. Passengers in one bus stranded in a six-foot pool of water were rescued by boat.

Weatherman said thunderstorms are expected today from the southern plains to the Atlantic and northeastward through the Ohio Valley to New England.

Most sheep raisers find the best time to dock their lambs is at one or two weeks of age. That's a good age, too, to castrate ram lambs that aren't being saved for breeding. Both operations can be performed at the same time.

'Northern' Beauty Sports Accent Picked Up In La.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—How any girl from so far north as Fairbanks, Alaska, could come "outside" sporting a genuine southern drawl is not at first easy to understand.

But Miss Alaska, whose usual name is Martha Lehmann (vital statistics, 34-24-26), is an 18-year-old from Alaska with a Dixie accent that is the real thing.

What's more, Miss Lehmann's heading south — not back to Dixie, but to Southern California — to enter face, figure and talent in the Miss Universe contest at Long Beach July 11-22.

This gal from the Arctic country comes by her southern accent most naturally. She lived many a day by the bayous of Louisiana.

Her father's in the Air Force, a master sergeant who operates the non-commissioned officers club at Eielson Air Force Base near Fairbanks.

The blonde, blue-eyed Miss Alaska is five feet, seven inches tall in her mukluks and weighs 122 pounds. She sometimes models clothing.

Miss Lehmann is an honor student at the University of Alaska, where the boys outnumber the girls by better odds than you could get on a squirrel fight at the northern saloon.

"It's very convenient that way," she said.

Cat Population Numbers 7 In Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—The cat population of Grand Rapids officially numbers only seven. City license officer Rawson Weaver said Monday that the deadline for obtaining cat licenses has passed and only seven persons took out permits — all for tomcats.

"One reason," Weaver said, "may be the price. Tags for tomcats cost only 25 cents, while female cat licenses are rated $1."

"No, we don't plan any mass arrests, for one thing, cats are too hard to catch. But it's evident that cat owners don't have the consideration for their pets that dog lovers do," he said.

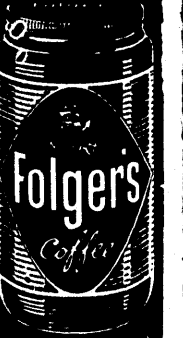

Weaver noted that 19,000 dog licenses have been taken out by their owners. But he said the seven cat licenses this year is actually an improvement.

"Last year only five cat owners took out permits," he said.

Outlook For Low Polio Year Good

WASHINGTON UP) — Public Health Service figures indicate that the outlook for a low polio toll this year is good.

A spokesman said there were only 1,403 polio cases reported in the first 26 weeks of this year, compared to 2,654 in the same period last year. Furthermore, the "median" figure for the years 1952-56 was 3,706 cases, considerably higher than the current trend.

The spokesman said the service has not made a survey to determine how many persons afflicted this year have had vaccinations.

So far, there is one trouble spot worrying the public service—the first 26 weeks of this year.

An expert has been sent to keep an eye on the outbreak there of some 50 cases.

However, a spokesman pointed out that most of the cases were of the "mild non-paralytic" type and the outbreak is not considered great for a population of 29,000.

MRS. CRAWFORD

Wife Divorces Actor Crawford

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Broderick Crawford has been divorced on his wife's testimony that he was "completely irresponsible" as a husband.

Mrs. Katherine Crawford, 39, who charged mental cruelty, told Superior Judge Edward R. Brand yesterday: "Many times when parties were planned for mutual friends he would not show up or even telephone. The same was true when events were planned for the children."

The 50-year-old Oscar winner did not contest the divorce. Mrs. Crawford received custody of their two sons, Kim, 8, and Kelly, 5.

A property settlement gives her the $75,000 family home in Brentwood and approximately a fourth of Crawford's estimated gross annual earnings of $200,000.

The couple married in 1940.

Daily Worker OKs Shakeup In Kremlin

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily Worker, a Communist newspaper, voiced approval today of the recent shakeup in Soviet leadership.

Commenting editorially for the first time on the latest Moscow purge, the Worker said the outcome showed a Soviet dedication to the policies of peaceful coexistence and a relaxation of tensions.

The newspaper applauded the debate within the Communist party's Central Committee on the issues posed by the conflict. But the editorial suggested that "matters might not have even come to this pass" had there been public discussion of the issues.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

Martha Ray Expected To Return To Broadway Soon

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Members of the international set are buzzing with the report that cover girl Dorian Leigh settled her claim against the late Marquis Alfonso de Portago's estate for half a million dollars. She bore him a son out of wedlock.

"A Hatful of Rain" is such a powerful story, numerous little theatre productions continue to draw crowds around the country even though the national release of the picture is imminent. Actually, the film's so impressive it may create added audiences for the stage version.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily Worker, a Communist newspaper, voiced approval today of the recent shakeup in Soviet leadership.

Commenting editorially for the first time on the latest Moscow purge, the Worker said the outcome showed a Soviet dedication to the policies of peaceful coexistence and a relaxation of tensions.

The newspaper applauded the debate within the Communist party's Central Committee on the issues posed by the conflict. But the editorial suggested that "matters might not have even come to this pass" had there been public discussion of the issues.

Red Skelton's Son Off To See Pompeii

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Young Richard Skelton, suffering from leukemia, is off to see the ruins of Pompeii. That's the sight the famed comic's son most wants to see in Europe.

The Skelton family—Red, wife Georgia, daughter Valentina, 10, and Richard, 9—left by Scandinavian Airlines early today for Copenhagen. Bo Roos Sr., business manager for the comic, also went along.

"I just want Richard to see some of the great wonders of the world," Red told a reporter as his carrol-topped son played nearby as vigorously as any other boy his age.

The boy's illness is in the so-called remission stage where the cancerous blood cells apparently lie dormant.

The boy's doctor has pronounced him in the pink for the trip. Specialists in Copenhagen, Zurich and other European cities will give the boy checkups en route.

"Our main concern is to see that he does not become overly tired on the trip," Mrs. Skelton said. That, she added, is a big job even when the child is home.

The itinerary has been arranged so that all European hops will be short ones and the stays in the various countries leisurely.

Countries to be visited will include Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Switzerland, England, France, Italy, Spain, the island of Majorca, the Azores and, finally, Mexico City and home.

The trip will take approximately six weeks or longer. Plans to visit the Far East have been postponed. Richard's desire to visit Pompeii came about in typical small boy fashion. All last week, a local television station has been showing the old movie, "The Last Days of Pompeii."

Red said that his son watched it with childish fascination almost every night. The boy said he wanted to see the ruins and that was all his father needed.

Polish Sailors Jump Ship, Seek Political Asylum

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Two sailors from a visiting Polish naval squadron jumped ship last night and asked for political asylum in Sweden.

"No Gomulka! No Gomulka! Not Poland when we have seen Stockholm! they shouted after getting off a bus they took to the suburbs to elude any embassy personnel that might be after them.

Wladyslaw Gomulka is the "nationalist" secretary of the Polish Communist party who won some independence from Moscow for his government.

CONGRESSMAN CHARGES:

Government Strays From Principle In Girard Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bowditch (R-Ohio) said today that in the Girard case, the government has strayed from the basic American principle "that a man is innocent until proven guilty."

Bowditch criticized a statement by U.S. Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin before the Supreme Court yesterday that "entirement" by the House Foreign Affairs Committee has approved the resolution, and the House Rules Committee tentatively arranged hearings on it today.

The administration says passage of the measure would force a withdrawal of U.S. troops from all over the world.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin (Mass.), the House Republican leader, said in a separate interview that there has been "no decision" yet on whether to muster a strong party stand against the resolution in the House.

Congressional sentiment for Bowditch's bill has mounted in the House over the Girard case.

Bowditch said that "if Girard is guilty, he should be tried by an American court, not a Japanese court."

Referring to the charge that Girard enticed the Japanese woman to pick up scrap, a charge said to be contained in a sealed affidavit presented by the government to the court, Bowditch said: "It is rather a strange procedure when we begin to try cases in the United States with secret documents."

"There has been no trial. There should be an open and complete trial to determine the innocence or guilt of any person, whether it is Girard or anybody else."

OUACHITA RIVER Rodriguez Assured Pollution Will End

Pollution of the Ouachita river in Arkansas will be stopped in the near future, W. D. H. Rodriguez, Monroe commissioner of streets, said yesterday after a telephone conversation with William M. Apple, chairman of the Arkansas Conservation Commission.

Apple said the Arkansas department will carry out a program to stop the pollution.

"We're interested in recovering the Ouachita River as a source of water supply for the City of Monroe," Rodriguez stated. "We'll have to stop the pollution first."

A pollution survey being conducted by the Arkansas Water Pollution Control Commission will be sent to Rodriguez by Kenneth E. Biglane, executive secretary of the Louisiana Stream Control Commission.

Rodriguez said the prevention of pollution in the Ouachita would solve the city's problem of a weak water supply during the summer when Bayou de l'Eglise drops to a low level.

MAIDCO Discusses
16 New Industries
For Monroe Area

The Monroe Area Industrial Development Corporation executive committee yesterday discussed sixteen prospective industries being sought for location here.

Walter Koch, executive vice-president, reported that of the 16 seeking location here, at least three have shown more than a casual interest.

MAIDCO president Howard Griffin said the executive committee was "very much impressed" with the report on the organization's program. "We are positive that with continued full support we can attract new industry," he stated.

Koch also discussed with the committee the recent inquiries of two industries concerning the Monroe area. No action was taken.

Another item of discussion was the visit here Thursday by 23 Louisiana Tech business Administration students. Dr. J. Leslie Bayless will head the group, which will tour Olin Mathieson and F. Strauss and Son.

Civil Rights Bill Creates Quandary

By BERT HATTEN
Managing Editor of The News-Star

Civil rights legislation now before congress and developments surrounding the controversial issue have tossed many Louisiana Democrats and Republicans alike into a sea of confusion and unrest.

High Officials Due Friday In Catahoula Area

In an effort to obtain effective federal emergency assistance for flood-stricken farmers of Catahoula parish, Louisiana Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman today reported from Washington that a survey of the condition there is to be conducted by a high-level representative of the department of agriculture. The department's representative is scheduled to arrive in Catahoula parish on Friday of this week.

Upon returning to Washington following a meeting at Jonesville Friday, Passman held a conference with officials of the department of agriculture which culminated late today in an agreement that the department would send a representative from Washington to Catahoula parish to evaluate the damage caused by the flood waters.

Passman said after his visit to Catahoula parish last Friday he was "disappointed and confused over the fact that those responsible for evaluating the sad plight of the people there certified only three wards for aid." He said he is convinced that all seven wards of the parish are entitled to assistance.

He pointed out that "unless those charged with this responsibility had lived with an empty stomach they could not understand the problems of these fine Americans who are facing the most uncertain future of their lifetime."

Penny Wise
He also asserted that "in all probability for each penny of aid reaching our fellow Americans in Catahoula parish, doubtless hundreds of dollars in aid will go to foreigners." He said there are too many officials in government "who are internationalists and will approve on a minute's notice tens of millions of dollars out of the president's special funds as aid for foreigners, but when the situation is reversed and our fellow Americans are concerned, they spend days deciding whether to give hungry Americans surplus commodities or let the commodities spoil."

Several other high-ranking officials will return to Catahoula parish for the Friday meeting, to which, according to Representative Passman, the public is being invited.

Democratic National Committee member Camille Gravel ignited an explosive protest from many Democratic party members with his endorsement of the president's civil rights program. Many of Gravel's previous strong supporters have remained silent in the wake of his announcement.

General Silence
On the Republican side, Louisiana G. O. P. leaders have maintained general silence. While they admit privately they are opposed to the legislation they are reluctant to speak out on the issue.

John S. Fox, fifth district Republican party chairman, said: "Speaking as an individual and not for the Republican party, you may quote me that any legislation which circumvents the long established process of law—that of trial by jury—would, in my opinion, be a mistake."

One section of the civil rights measure would provide court trial without jury.

Louisiana Republicans, like most Southerners, are basically opposed to integration and any move that might lead to or foster integration.

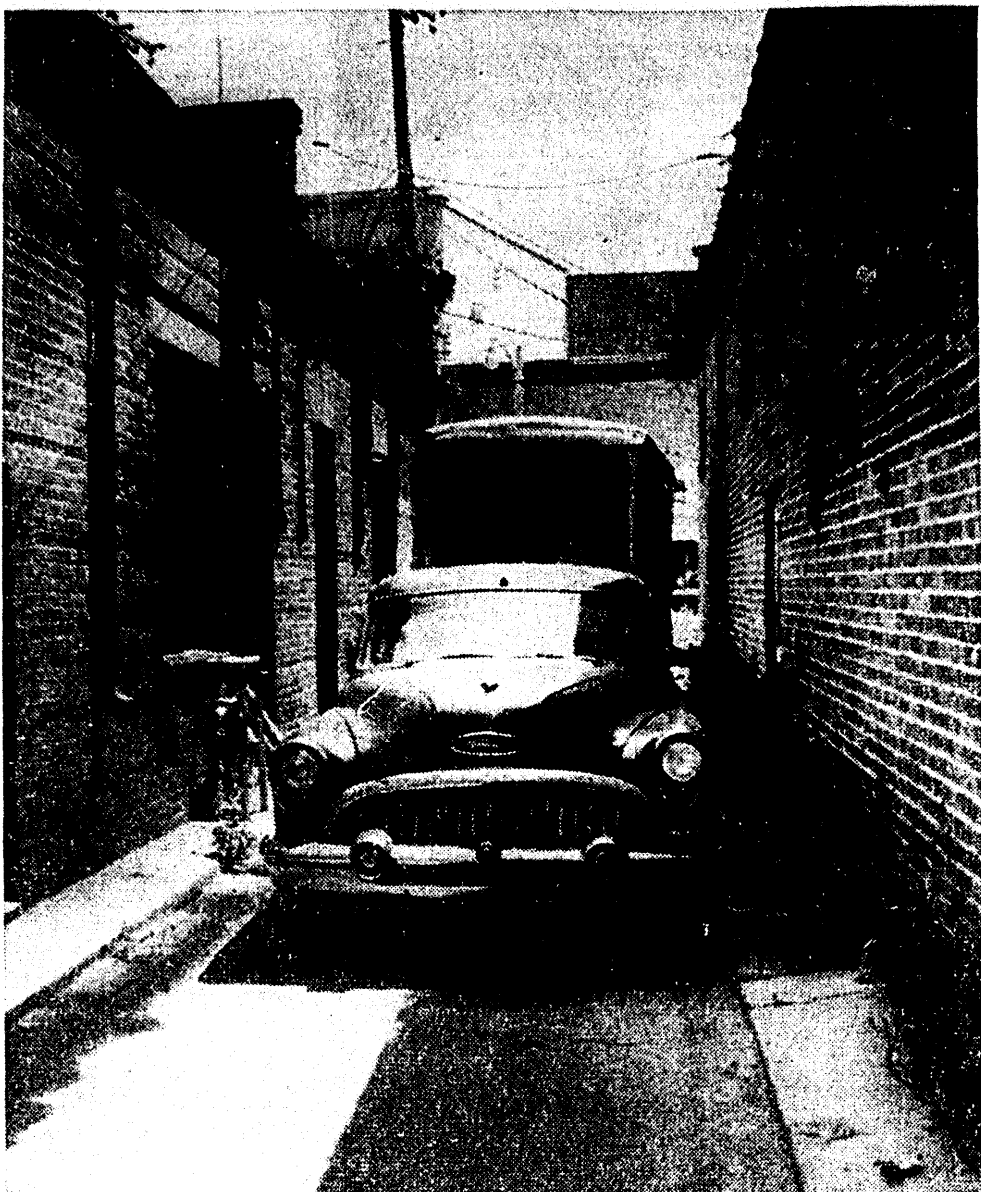

Reluctant
In the shadow of these convictions, Louisiana Republicans are reluctant on the civil rights measure for two reasons. In the first place, they want to remain loyal to the administration they supported for election. Secondly, they don't want to spoil their dream of a strong two-party system in the state.

On one hand the Republicans in Louisiana want to stick up for the man they supported and elected to office. On the other they are trying to nurture party growth in a state that is race conscious and highly sensitive to any effort to change custom that is generations old.

Meet July 15
Some solution of the Republican quandary may be worked out July 15 when Louisiana Republicans are scheduled to meet in New Orleans with Lee Potter, a Virginia Republican who has been assigned to act as a coordinator in the G. O. P. movement to expand in the South. Fox, N. B. James of Farmville and several other prominent Republicans from northeast Louisiana will attend the meeting in New Orleans.

Some of the pressure of the Republican-sponsored civil rights bill has been removed from Louisiana Republicans by the repeated announcement of Gravel that he will stand for the bill. Gravel's position takes the pressure off the Republicans for two reasons. While the Democrats hold the political spotlight by fighting over the Gravel statement the Republicans can rest assured there will be fewer searching questions for them to answer. Also, with a leading Democrat like Gravel supporting the civil rights bill there will be less chance of losing recent Republican recruits back to the Democratic fold.

ALLEYS NOT FOR PARKING

Some thoughtless motorist parked his automobile in the alley above and forced a freight truck (background) to turn around in the middle of a busy Monroe street and back up to the loading door of a Monroe retail firm. Freight and mail trucks have enough trouble getting through Monroe's broken and debris strewn alleys without having to thread their way around automobiles that illegally block the way. Blocked alleys, such as above, have become a rule rather than an exception. (Staff Photo by John Oldenburg.)

Nine More Victims To Get Unmarked, Common Grave

LAKE CHARLES, La. — UP — Nine more victims of hurricane Audrey will be buried in an unmarked, common grave within the next two days.

With the air-ground search for the dead ended, the official death toll in the Cameron parish area stood at 319 counted victims. The storm, which cut a deadly swath from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada, snuffed out 30 lives in other states.

Another 101 unidentified dead were buried in long, common graves at two other mass burials held since Audrey struck June 27.

For the first time, the missing list, which today stood at 151, was greater than the number of unidentified dead, bolstering predictions that the final toll may rise well over the present 319 known dead mark.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Sam Mazille of Calcasieu parish, just north of disaster-stricken Cameron parish, said remains of Audrey's victims will be found "for years to come."

With the task of caring for the dead nearly over, efforts were concentrated on the living.

Hundreds of rehabilitation workers continued to rebuild Cameron and surrounding communities, all but totally destroyed by Audrey's 105-mile-an-hour winds and surging waters.

Spurred by a $25,000 donation, the Red Cross Audrey disaster fund has gone well over $50,000. G. W. Swift Jr., fund co-chair-

BOY KNITTER

BRANCH, Mich. — (UP) — Roger ("Bucky") Peterson, 10, has two blue ribbons to prove he has beaten the girls at one of their own games knitting. He won the ribbons in a 4-H Club contest. He learned to handle the needles and yarn two years ago when confined with an illness.

The use of radioactive isotopes saved 400 million dollars in manufacturing costs last year, the Illinois Institute of Technology estimates.

Highway Route Inspection Set West Of Monroe

A "plan - in - hand" inspection of the proposed route of the interstate super highway beginning at Ruston and extending to Choudrant will be conducted Wednesday and Thursday.

On inspection tour will be two engineers of the federal bureau of roads; Paul Bryant, a design engineer from the Louisiana department of highways; Jim Breas, from the central office at Baton Rouge; Wayne Huckaby, fifth district engineer with the state highway department; and Ellis Ross, assistant district engineer.

The preliminary blueprints have been prepared and the "plan - in - hand" inspection will consist of a field check of all the construction details, Huckaby said.

The proposed route lies about a mile and one-fourth north of the present U. S. 80 through Ruston and about the same distance north of Choudrant. The length is 7.75 miles, the district engineer said.

Contract plans and documents will be prepared after preliminary plans meet with the inspectors approval and contracts will be let probably prior to the first of 1958, Huckaby said.
